

CAPPING -APPLICATION

CA

EFFECT OF REDOX POTENTIAL ON HEAVY METALS AND As BEHAVIOUR IN DREDGED SEDIMENTS

case study

In ex-situ techniques contaminated sediment is usually removed by excavation, and thereafter the sediment is treated on-site, or it is transported to another location and then treated off-site. The overview together with various assessments of the remediation options is given in Table.

